"The Runaways" by Arlington Young People

"The Runaways," a well known musical comedy that has filled the theatres in some of our leading cities and which was given in Arlington some fifteen years ago, made its second appearance here this week for a two nights' stand. It had for its patrons, members of the Middlesex Sportsman's Association and friends, and for the cast, well known young people of the town, who, under the stage management of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Philbrook, sang and danced their way into the good graces of their indulgent audiences.

The performances were held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, the cast having had but two weeks in preparation of what proved to be an entertaining evening with our young people, whom everyone is always interested to see in such shows as was put on at this time. The costumes were a feature of the show, that had in the cast several young people whose dramatic and singing ability have been tested on many previous occasions.

Miss Phyllis Blake was the leading lady, and the grace with which she acted and danced, together with her sweet singing of several special numbers, made her part in the production much enjoyed. Kenneth McLeod, who played opposite Miss Blake, has a voice of pleasing timber, and their voices blended in sweet

CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION AT MARCH TOWN MEETING

A canvass made this week among the various candidates mentioned from time to time in the Advocate as having taken out nomination papers, finds that all intend to run. There is talk of being even more when nomination papers are filed, which will be the middle of this month. As far as the Advocate has been able to learn, the candidates for Selectman are: John G. Flynn, Thomas F. Good, John Buckley and Arthur P. Wyman.

Board of Public Works: James R. Smith, Michael J. Canniff, M. Francis Mead and Daniel W. Callaghan.

Assessors: Charles H. Gannett, Augustus J. Power, Elbridge Johnson and Daniel O'Connell. Rumor has it that there is to be an interesting contest on for School Committee.

Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter Minstrels

Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter has a reputation for doing things well, and so it was not to be wondered at that the Minstrels put on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, drew large audiences both evenings.

The show was under the personal direction of George V. C. Lord, who has put on other shows in Arlington, and always with acceptance. This was no exception. Miss Marguerite Barnes was musical director, while the Omar Grotto band of orchestra, M. G. Sypher, conductor, added a good deal to the musical part of the program by their numbers. They made a handsome appearance on the stage, and were a feature in the second part of the program, in their purple velvet suits with gold trimmings, worn for that number only.

The first part of the program was entitled "The Magic Charm." This name was well chosen, for, as if by magic, some of the members of the lodge were transformed (for the evening) into lovely looking females, who, with all the charm supposed to be known only to the gentler sex, captivated their audience, besides making effective foils for those who were in male attire, some grotesque and others picturesque.

Of course the show was all nonsense, but it caught the audience, which was ready for a laugh when

TOWN MEN ARE AT WORK CLEANING CATCH BASINS

Men employed by the Board of Public Works are busy now cleaning the catch basins and the sewers. This is a job which has to be done once in so often, and winter, which is a dull time in this department, is the best time to do it. The men are going to the bottom of the basins and cleaning them thoroughly. The work was started at the Heights and is about half done.

Early in March it is planned to start work on the water mains, and then it is probable that the men laid off in December will be taken back. At present the department has but two requests for water mains, Mr. Benson, clerk of the Board, says. As the houses, for which these are wanted, are not nearly completed, it will not be necessary to put them in while the ground is frozen.

REV. RUBENS REA HADLEY

Work of School Children Shown to Woman's Club

Those members of the club who absented themselves from the meeting Thursday, missed an unusually interesting program. The first part was an exhibition of what is being done in our public schools in singing, instrumental and music appreciation. Miss Grace Gordon Pierce, the supervisor of music, briefly told what is being aimed at in music in our schools, and then presented for the first number, the toy orchestra. This was made up of 195 pupils taken from the sub-primary and first grade classes in our schools. They were in costumes of blue capes, lined with red, and hats to match, and with toy instruments made music that delighted the audience. Then came three pupils from each of the six grades in the town, who gave a group of songs. Members representing the three Junior High school orchestras were next heard from, in a group of selections. Mr. L. Hassler Einsig, directing. The closing feature of this part of the program was by the Girls' Glee Club, making all in all a most interesting demonstration of what is being accomplished musically with our pupils, from the first grades to the Senior High School work.

The speaker of the afternoon was Professor Elbert K. Fretwell, of the Teachers' College, Columbia Univer-

Installation of New Minister on Sunday

On Sunday evening there gathered in the auditorium of the First Unitarian church, a large audience to witness the public installation of Rev. Rubens Rea Hadley as minister of this old historic church.

The organ prelude was by Mrs. Margaret H. Sandberger, while during the exercises two solos were sung by Prof. Louis Schalk, director of the music and soloist at the First Parish (Congregational) Unitarian church of this town.

The Scripture reading was by Rev. George E. Leighton, D. D., who also offered the Installation prayer. The sermon was by Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D., one of the foremost ministers in the denomination, who made a strong appeal for the seeking after truth as portrayed by Jesus in His life. He took for his subject, "How Far Do We Travel And Where?" Jesus, the way of truth and light, has been leading men forward. He has outdistanced us all, and is ever ready to lead those who will follow, was the thought conveyed to his audience by Mr. Lowe. Do you progress in your beliefs or do you believe in progress? were two questions asked by the preacher. The life of the church depends upon which is followed.

The address to the people was by Rev. George E. Huntley, D. D. Dr. Huntley was well qualified to make this address, for during the interim between the death of this parish's beloved pastor, the late Rev. Charles F. Patterson, and the coming of Rev. Mr. Hadley in October of last year, he had supplied the pulpit and acted as spiritual leader to the people of the church. In a happy way he gave the audience a word picture of the man who has come to be the minister of this church, speaking from a long acquaintance with him; stressing his admirable qualities, that tend to make a minister a help to his people, and asking for cooperation, that will keep this church a paying and a going institution, charging them not to be unmindful of the substantial things of life needed by a minister in order that he may give his best to his church.

Rev. Harold Marshall, D. D., delivered a brief address to the minister, in which he voiced his belief that he would carry on the work that had been so well maintained in the past, believing, however, that he would not live in those traditions but would be a minister of a prophetic church, alive to the power of fellowship in the community of which it is to be a part.

The Rev. John Nicol Mark, minister.

ARLINGTON COUNTRY CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Arlington Country Club held its annual meeting and election of officers at the clubhouse, Wednesday evening. The report of the treasurer showed that the financial condition of the club is excellent. A few unimportant changes were made in the by-laws.

The officers elected are as follows: first vice-president, John J. Doyle; second vice-president, Charles Bendix; secretary-treasurer, Charles H. Harvey; directors, S. Bruce Black, Walter S. Coolidge, Anton F. Koerner, William J. Slemmer, Fred N. Stephens and James B. Valley. The directors will meet this evening to choose the president.

MASSACHUSETTS CHIEFS OF POLICE UNION HOLDS 40th ANNUAL REUNION

The fortieth annual meeting of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Union, held Thursday afternoon of this week in the new Police Headquarters building in this town, had a double significance to the members, for it was the first time many had inspected the new station. There were 60 in the party, made up of chiefs of police from all sections of the state. Chief Thomas O. D. Unquhart, the host to the party, arranged for the bountiful dinner, which was served in the guard-room by the Hardy Catering Company. The annual election of officers was held. Two silver cups were presented during the festivities, one to Washington I. James, who for forty-four years was chief of police of Hingham, and one to Michael H. Grady, former chief of police of Peabody. Both men recently retired from active police duty.

After dinner the teletype machine was demonstrated by the N. E. T. & T. Co., followed by a general inspection of the new building.

Middlesex County, G. A. R. Elects New Officers

Members of the Middlesex County G. A. R. Association were the guests on Friday, of Relief Corps Number 43, in G. A. R. Hall.

The chief business of the meeting, after the welcome, given by Mrs. Carolyn Morse, president of the Middlesex County W. R. C. Association, was the election of officers for 1928. Hendrie Batchelder, Post 156, Everett, was elected president; Charles Robinson, Post 4, Melrose, senior vice-commander; A. J. Wiggin, Post 4, Melrose, junior vice-commander; George Averill, Post 36, Arlington, surgeon; Solomon A. Lenfert, Post 12, Wakefield, Chaplain; George A. Parsons, Post 156, Everett, officer of day; John Shay, Post 12, Wakefield, officer of guard; John Frost, Post 139, Somerville, quarter master; A.

Arlington has received $122,386.58 as its share of the state income tax, $33,496.34 more than the $88,890.24 which was originally allotted and which was used in making out the budget and figuring the tax rate for the year.

However, Arlington officials are not planning to hurry out to buy the town a new swimming pool or skating rink with the money. Instead, they will soberly apply it to next year's budget, just as last year's extra money was applied to this year's.

The state, Mr. Clarence Needham, the town accountant, explained, can never tell exactly what the income tax will amount to, so they make a conservative estimate on which the tax rate can be figured. "Anything over that is given to the town after the taxes have been paid. This is true of other state allotments, besides the income tax. But in a well run town like Arlington all of these sums are applied to the budget of the next year."

BAPTISTS GIVE CORDIAL WELCOME TO NEW PASTOR

Members of the First Baptist church gave a cordial welcome to their new pastor, Rev. Grady Feagan, and his wife at a banquet and reception held in the church parlors yesterday evening. The tables for the banquet, which was held downstairs, were decorated with pink carnations, while the upstairs parlors, where the reception was held, were decorated with carnations and with palms and potted plants.

Following the banquet, Clarence Moore gave a brief speech of welcome to the minister and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Feagan each responded in a cordial and happy way. The A. B. C. Orchestra played for the reception, that was held in the chapel, when all were given an opportunity to shake hands with the pastor and wife, also Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot R. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Gregory, who were in the receiving line. Messrs. Moore, Barker and Gregory are senior deacons of the church.

The ushers were Messrs. John Crosby, William R. Barsa, Arthur Shuster, L. E. A. Smith, E. W. Robinson, Ralph J. Hunt, Clark Wyman, Marcus Sorenson, Thomas S. Crawford, John Calkins, Wm. E. Dobel, C. E. Gilmore and George Bacon Moore.

The affair, which proved so enjoyable to the many who attended, was arranged by the social committee, Mrs. Harrison Evans, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Elliott R. Barker and Mrs. L. E. A. Smith.

Mr. Feagan, who will conduct his first service as pastor on Sunday morning, comes to Arlington from Lowell, where last week Thursday he and Mrs. Feagan were given a farewell reception by the members of the First United Baptist church. At this time regret was expressed that Mr. and Mrs. Feagan were leaving Lowell and the opinion was given that Arlington was to be congratulated on having secured his services. Mr. Feagan is a graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, where he was known as a brilliant student, and has completed his work for a degree at the School of Religious Education of B. U.

MR. FORREST READS HIS PLAY TO FRIENDS OF DRAMA

Mr. Belford Forrest, who coached the fall production of the Friends of the Drama, read one of his own plays at the meeting of that organization, which was held last week Thursday evening in the vestry of the Unitarian church. The play, "On the Third Day," told in modern language the story of the Crucifixion, with Mary and Martha as two of the characters. So great was the interest in the first act, that after refreshments were served, Mr. Forrest's audience insisted on his giving a resume of the last two acts. Miss Lena and Miss Alice Leuk were in charge of the refreshments.

CAMPBELL FAMILY GATHER FOR TRIPLE CELEBRATION

Members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. Campbell of Brockton gathered a week ago Wednesday night at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Hermann S. Darby of 24 Coolidge road, for a triple celebration. It was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, the wedding of their daughter, Mrs. Malcolm A. Darby, and the birthday of Mrs. Darby.

Mrs. Browne, who made her home in Arlington with her sister, was married to Malcolm Leslie Robb, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Robb of Somerville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. C. Lang, pastor of the Franklin Street Congregational church of Somerville. The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with lace, and made with a train. She wore a bridal veil of tulle and carried a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies. Her sister, Mrs. Darby, who attended her, wore pale pink beaded georgette and carried Killarney roses. Gordon Robb of Beverly, a cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

The living room of the Darby home was decorated in pink, and between it and the dining room was a white arch, hung with wedding bells, beneath which the ceremony was performed. The decorations of the dining room were gold, in honor of the elder couple. Here delicious refreshments were served, including two wonderful cakes, one an anniversary and the other a wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell assisted in receiving the guests. Mrs. Campbell gowned in black satin and carrying red roses. Mrs. Robb, the mother of the bridegroom, was in gray georgette and also carried red roses. Both couples were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Especially appropriate was the two hundred dollars in gold, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

The evening was spent happily in music and dancing. Mrs. Annabel Sampson, a cousin of Medford, sang and Mrs. John Usher of Waltham acted as pianist. It was two in the morning before the party broke up, but long before that the bride couple had stolen away to catch the train for New York, where they spent their honeymoon. They have returned now and are living at 27 Magnolia street.

Among the seventy-five guests were relatives from many places. Mr. Campbell's sister, Mrs. Mary Poquet, whom he had not seen for forty-eight years, came from Prince Edward Island, and another sister, Mrs. Melvina Dowell, whom he had not seen for fifteen years, from New York. They were both the guests of another sister, Mrs. W. F. St. Coeur, of Bedford. Two sons, Frank T. Campbell of Chandler street, and Archie Campbell of Somerville, with their families, were in the party, as was also another daughter, Mrs. Henry C. Hoyt, of Newton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were married in Boston by Rev. H. R. Hamilton of the People's Methodist church, and they lived in and around Boston until 17 years ago, when they moved to Brockton. Mr. Campbell having taken employment in a market there. He is 76 years old, 10 years older than Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Campbell is a charter member of Ramona Rebekah Lodge of Boston and a member of Caleb Rand Lodge of Boston. Mr. Campbell is a member of Boston Lodge of Odd Fellows and Brockton Lodge of Elks.

IN 1878

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Severe Snow Storm.—The closing hours of the first month of the new year and the opening of the last month of winter brought with them a snow storm, exceeding in severity anything which has occurred in a long time. Friday morning found the ground piled with snow to an extent which rendered travel very difficult, and in some places the roads were practically impassable.

As near as can be estimated, about a foot of snow fell, but it is very light and will probably soon disappear. Horse car travel above Harvard square was entirely suspended for a considerable time, the tracks being literally piled up with snow, and it was not until 9.30 o'clock that the snow plow, drawn by six horses, made its appearance in Arlington and cleared the tracks.

Entertainment.—Last Tuesday evening there was an entertainment in Reynolds Hall, arranged by a joint committee of the W. C. T. Union and the Reform Club, consisting of Mrs. Rugg and Mrs. Trow and Messrs. W. and G. Crosby. The exercises opened with readings by Rev. Mr. Allen of Boston. Master Clarence Hight then recited "Who says Peep." The next introduced was the "Peak Family," a company of twelve ladies and gentlemen (dressed in a costume made of high peaked hats and wide peaked collars and cuffs), who sang several selections, interspersed with solos on the mouth harmonica, by Geo. Goss. Mrs. W. Crosby's solo, "Three Little Niggers," was a great hit. The performance closed with a charming little operetta, "The Farmer's Glee." The parts were sustained by Mrs. W. Crosby, Miss Jennie Sprague, Miss May Hardy and Miss Rugg and Messrs. Trow, Wood, Hardy, Hilliard and Osborn.

The hall was full, as will be realized by all, when we say that the sales of tickets at the door amounted to $13.85.

IN 1903

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

Mr. Harold Veames of Arlington is in the cast of "Baron Humbert," the bankers' 1903 Burmet opera, occupying the boards of the Tremont Theatre this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Devereaux of Pleasant street announce the engagement of their daughter, Blanche, to Mr. Stephen Haines Plum, Jr., Princeton, 61, of Newark, N. J.

The Shakespeare Club, which was so successfully led by Mr. E. F. Burns, of Oakridge avenue, last winter, was reorganized last week, and will in the future meet at the home of Mr. E. P. White, Mr. Burns again generously giving his services. The club is now reading "As You Like It."

Mr. Edward W. Hall's family are back at their home at 187 Pleasant street, after an absence of several weeks, during which Mr. Hall has been travelling in the south for his health, and Mrs. Hall and children have been guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Bacon at their family residence in Winchester.

Wedding At Homes.—An exceptionally beautiful evening, moonlit and springlike in temperature, was afforded on Tuesday for the two wedding at homes, held by Arlington's two recent bridal couples on that evening and for which they and their friends who participated "thanked their lucky stars."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norwood Bott received from eight to ten at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bott, Sr., 55 Academy street, and a number of friends called to welcome the bride, who comes to reside among us from St. Louis, Mo., and congratulate the young bridegroom. Mrs. Bott received her bridal toilette and the evening was pleasantly informal in every respect.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blake Wood received during the same hours in the music room of their attractive home at 31 Jason street. Mrs. Wood wearing her bridal toilette of white point d'esprit. In the dining room where light refreshments were served, furnished by caterer Hardy, the young hostess was assisted by her cousin, Mrs. Richard Wiggins Drowne of Lynn, a bride of three weeks, who also wore point d'esprit, and Mrs. Harold Locke Frost of Arlington. Mrs. Frost wore a becoming black Indian silk trimmed with oriental embroidery. Mr. W. Thornton Wood, the eldest brother of the host, received friends on their entrance.

—The experiences in earning a dollar told in rhyme by members of the Samaritan Society at the meeting held Monday afternoon at the Parish House, proved highly entertaining. At the close of the meeting tea was served by a committee composed of Mrs. James F. Dunne, Mrs. Leroy G. Shaw and Mrs. Clarence Needham. Bouquets of carnations decorated the parlor and the tea table.

WOMAN'S CRIES FRIGHTEEN AWAY A PROBABLE BURGLAR

Sunday afternoon a burglar entered the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McGirr, 252 Mass avenue, but was frightened away before he secured anything of value. Entrance was gained by way of the back door, which was open. Mrs. McGirr was resting on a couch, when she heard someone moving in the bed room. Investigating, she saw a young man, described as about 25 years old, medium height, wearing a brown overcoat and light colored cap, who, when Mrs. McGirr screamed, dashed out of the room and down the back stairs. The police were notified but all trace of the intruder was lost. Neighbors stated that they had seen a young man running from the house about the time of the attempted burglary.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 8 Leads in Race

Troop 8, the Commissioner's Troop, Walter R. Ruppells, Scoutmaster, is ahead in the race for the Commissioner's Flag, according to figures given out at headquarters, though its margin over Troops 2 and 1 of Lexington is very small.

At the first of January, the order of the 18 troops in the Sachem Council was as follows:—Troop 8, Arlington, Troop 2, Lexington; Troop 1, Lexington, all three having a standard rating; Troop 13, Belmont, 2, Arlington, 12, Belmont, all of average rating; 5, of Arlington, 6, of Arlington, 1, of Arlington, 14, of Belmont, 4, of Belmont, 7, of Arlington, 3, of Belmont, 4, of Lexington, 1, of Bedford, 15, of Belmont, 9, of Arlington and 11, of Arlington, follow in the order named. The three leading troops are closely matched and a splendid contest is assured for the premier honors. Troop 8 has won the Flag four out of five years and intends to hold it, while the other five troops next in order are determined, each to break the monopoly of 8.

Executive Board Meets

The monthly meeting of the Executive Board of the Council was held at the Boston City Club last Tuesday evening, with 12 members present. Routine business was enacted and the following Chairmen of Committees were approved: Court of Honor, Franklin P. Hawkes; Finance Committee, Everett E. Brainard; Troop Organization, Roger M. H. Wilcox; Leadership and Training, Paul K. Niven; Camping, Joseph P. MacAllister; Reading Program, Frank A. Scott; Education and Publicity, Fletcher Taft; News, G. B. C. Rugg; Publication, O. V. Hersey; Anniversary Week, W. J. Marsters; Health and Safety, Richard W. Sherman. Clarence Needham was re-elected Auditor. It was voted to hold a meeting every month and that a Subcommittee made up of the President and the Vice-presidents should act for the committee between meetings.

Leaders' Training Course

The last indoor meeting of the Scout Leaders' Training Course which has been conducted this winter, was held last Thursday evening in the library of the Belmont High school, 25 leaders being present. Interesting and instructive papers were read by Prof. Edward M. Moran of the Harvard Law School on the scout magazine, "Boy's Life," and on Reading, by Roger M. H. Wilcox on Re-registration and Charter Renewal Ceremonies, by Scout Executive Richard A. Mellen on Troop Finances, and by Dana Squires on the Scribe. After the talks, open discussion was held. The next meeting will be an over-night hike.

Merrill Norlie of Lexington has been appointed a Deputy Scout Commissioner for Lexington by the Lexington Committee. Mr. Norlie is enthusiastic on scouting and will make a fine executive.

Troops 6 and 8 of Arlington will soon have cabins at Camp Oak. 6 already has drawn plans and is busy getting their lumber and material together. 8 is having plans drawn by its three Eagle Scouts, Russell Snow, Harry McCann and Edward Brainard, each of whom has passed the Architecture Merit Badge. A good portion of the lumber has already been donated to 8 by a public-spirited father of the troop and the rest of the materials will be forthcoming shortly. Both troops hope to have their cabins ready by spring.

SACHEM COUNCIL

Troop 5—Arlington

Assembly was blown at 7.40 p. m. for a scout meeting held at J. H. W. Friday evening. We were very glad to have five scouts of the Fox-Patrol from Troop 8 come to visit us. I bet they liked Troop 5 and wish to leave Troop 8. But we are sorry, for we can't take them in tow, because our places are all filled. After the pledge to the flag, we were ordered by our scoutmaster, Mr. Burt, to march up to room 1 for a little surprise. We all knew what was going to come, because there was something queer with the committeemen. We all took seats in room 1 and were quite merry. The scouts sat at long tables covered with white paper, while the committee with the Troop 8 scouts sat at another table. The Patrol leaders were called aside to proceed down to the cooking-room, while Mr. Ogren passed out sheets, which had on them the advancement of a scout, to be filled out by everyone.

After waiting for ten minutes, the patrol-leaders returned with ice cream and cookies, passing out one of each to everyone. We were just filling our stomachs, when our worthy chairman, Mr. MacAllister, walked in. He was welcomed by the scouts very heartily. Being seated, Mr. MacAllister said that he was always looking forward to having a meeting like this one, and was tickled to death when he saw us so merry. He talked to us, of how to be helpful to others and illustrated to us two incidents, one which he saw and the other that happened to him. He also said that there was an exact duplicate of Abraham Lincoln's cabin in which Lincoln was born. That cabin is only open once a year to school children and he wants us to see it on Lincoln's birthday. He also talked about advancement.

After finishing his speech, Mr. Burt arose and wanted to dismiss the troop, when, "oh boy, we are going to have some more." This was interrupted by one of the scouts, who saw that hot cocoa and sandwiches were brought in. Although the cocoa was a little hot, down it went just the same, with the sandwiches following. We were eating heartily, when someone exclaimed, "cheese it, the principal," and there stood Mr. Hawkes smiling in the doorway. We also found a seat for him and he was quite happy with the bunch. Having finished eating, four scouts were chosen to clean up the room and the troop was dismissed by Mr. Burt at 10 p. m. At the doorway scout calendars were given out to everyone.

After the meeting, I went down to the cooking room and there was a wonderful lemon cake. I thought it was for the committeemen. Coming back after ten minutes, I found it gone and heard that somebody had eaten it. I hope that person isn't sick. I should have been faster.

Among those present at the meeting were Mr. Niven, Chairman of the Troop Leaders' Training Course, and Mr. Bancroft Beatley, Professor of Secondary School Administration at Harvard University. The Scouts gave them a hearty welcome, and hope they will come again.

NICHOLAS RASSETZKI.

Miss Ethel Wellington and Mrs. A. J. Wellington gave a bridge party of five tables on Friday afternoon of last week at the home of the former. It was for the benefit of the Scholarship fund of the Arlington Woman's Club.

MANCHESTER H. S. FIVE PLAY STRANGE BASKETBALL

Arlington High basketball team lost to Manchester, N. H. High on last Friday evening in a game played at Manchester, by a score of 26 to 16. This win gave Manchester a clean slate for the season thus far. At the end of the first half the Arlington team was in the lead. Then the referee, who officiated at all the Manchester games, took a hand in the game, and thereby hangs the tale. During the last half not a single foul was called on Manchester, but whenever it was possible to do so, Arlington was penalized, with the result that their morale was gradually broken down. Time after time the Manchester team broke rules governing the game, but were not penalized. Manchester is scheduled to play here on March 2. It is certain that they will get an even break, and not be accorded the same kind of treatment that our boys received at the hands of the Manchester referee.

Capt. McNamara had to be taken from the game due to a sudden illness, but before he reached Arlington he had recovered.

A. H. S. GIRLS' BASKETBALL

CONTINUE VICTORIOUS MARCH

Nothing seems to be able to stop the girls' basketball team of the High school, for on last Friday afternoon they annexed another victory, taking the game from Winchester girls by a score of 42 to 24, played in the High School gymnasium. Coach Katherine McCarthy played a large number of girls in this game to give them experience and a try-out. All worked exceptionally well. The honors were about even for point scoring between Marion Hager and Louise Stinson, the latter getting 21 points and the former, 17. The work of the backfield of the Arlington team was good. They broke up many a play that looked as if a goal was to be made.

RALPH STOKER SIGNED

UP WITH RED SOX

Ralph Stoker, 19 years old, graduate of Arlington High School, and one of the best baseball pitchers that has ever been shown here in some time, has been signed up with the Boston Red Sox. He will leave here on Feb. 18 for the south, where he will be put through a course of training. The scouts have been looking more toward home talent in recent years, with the result that Greater Boston has had some fine timber enter the big leagues.

Stoker graduated from Arlington High two years ago, and since then has been pitching in the twilight league. Last season he was pitcher for the M. S. A. team in the Mystic Valley Twilight League, where his work was one of the outstanding features of the entire league. He is over six feet tall and weighs 180 pounds. He is left handed and throws one of those deceptive loose-arm balls that goes to make a good pitcher. Hugh Duffy, scout for the Red Sox, saw Stoker at work during the past season, and was impressed with his work, so now is willing to give the youngster a tryout. Among the schoolboy pitchers Stoker was in a class by himself.

We feel sure that the Advocate readers and town in general wish the young man all kinds of good luck in his new venture.

NOBLE & GREENOUGH HOCKEY TEAM LOSES TO ARLINGTON

The High school ice hockey team broke the long record of wins of the Noble & Greenough school on Monday afternoon in a fast game played on the Noble & Greenough rink at Dedham, by a score of two to one. McWain, left wing of the Noble & Greenough school, made a goal within a half a minute after the opening play. This tended to make the Arlington boys play more cautiously, with the result that the lone tally was all that N. & G. got in the game. Forbes and Forest scored the two Arlington goals in the second period, after some clever and fast playing. From then on the Dedham boys played hard for at least a tie score. The backfield players for the Arlington team, and the N. & G. team made some very beautiful stops, that broke up many a play that looked like a goal.

A. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM TIES

WITH RINDGE TECHNICAL

Playing the second game of the series in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League on Saturday afternoon in the Boston Arena, the High school team, under coach Charles Downs, played with Rindge Technical, the game ending one and one. This game was brought to the arena owing to the lack of ice in this section, and was well played. The Rindge goal was nothing more than a piece of luck, for the puck took a lucky bound, going through the legs of the Arlington goalie. An overtime period was played in an attempt to break the deadlock, but there was nothing doing. It was early in the second period that Leveroni of Arlington took the puck down the ice in a brilliant exhibition of skating and tallied. It was later in this period that Rindge scored. Arlington scored another goal but this was not allowed by the officials, who contended that the Rindge goal tend was roughed. Those who were watching the game were sure that he tripped over his own skates and fell. Credit is due Sumner, Capt. Lane, Leveroni and Forbes for their work in this game.

ON THE ALLEYS

Union Bowling League

Matches in the Union Church bowling league, rolled Monday evening on the Arlington Alleys, resulted in the A. F. G. Brotherhood of the Heights Baptist church winning three points from the Church of Our Saviour (Episcopal); Heights Congregational, three from the First Universalist; Orthodox Congregational, three from Davis' Best of the Heights Baptist church, and Calvary Methodist Episcopal, three from the Heights Methodist Episcopal. Everett Cobb of the Orthodox Church team was the high man of the evening, with a single string of 128, and three string total of 343. These matches made a general shift in the league standing, with the exception of the A. F. G. team, which has a wide margin at the top of the league.

Knights of Columbus

With the first half of the Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus bowling league season almost over, the St. Patrieks, by taking all four points from the Lakeviews last Thursday evening, clinched the championship of the first division. Matches were rolled on the Regent and the Arlington alleys. The Wacos won all four points from the Heaphies, Macks won three from the Fusilliers; Old Timers split even with the Pellys, Elcos won three from the Auctioneers; Associates won three from the Spares; Fillers won four from the Brokers, and the Bruins won three from the Zevs. John Sexton of the Elcos was the high single string man of the evening, with 118, and George Dolan of the Wacos was high three string man with 308.

Middlesex Sportsman's Association

A close and interesting house tournament is in progress at the club, where there is a deal of good-natured rivalry among the members for the high honors.

In the Newton League it looks as if the M. S. A. team is going to clinch the league. The team has a good lead and should close the season where it now is, at the top of the league.

Community Club

The second half of the season is now under way, but as yet the score-keeper has not seen fit to turn any scores in for publication. It may be that the scores are too low.

The Trinart Club and the J. Club, both of East Arlington, continue to hold some close sessions on the Regent Alleys, for the championship of the east end of the town. On both teams there are some good bowlers, who are making some fine marks.

A. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM WINS FROM BELMONT HIGH IN OVERTIME PERIOD

Playing the best game of the season thus far, the High School ice hockey team defeated the Belmont High team in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League, Tuesday afternoon on Spy Pond. The game went for an overtime period, and during this period there was more real ice hockey played than during the entire game. Belmont High is one of the strongest contenders for the League title that the Arlington boys will have to meet, and to win from them is a real victory.

The game was played in the high school rink, which had been set up on the pond, but owing to the large number who watched the game, the water came up over the ice and flooded a section of the rink. This did not seem to hamper the boys any, and both teams played a wonderful game. Secor of Belmont scored early in the first period, and it was not until late in the second period that Moore of Arlington got the puck through for a score and a tie. The third session was scoreless, and an overtime session was agreed on—ten minutes—five each way. Here is where the real game came in. Secor again drove the puck by David, the Arlington goalie, for a tally, and put Belmont in the lead. Forbes followed this up with a goal for Arlington, and again tied the score. It was now down to the minute, and both teams played harder than ever. With a matter of seconds left to play, Moore began to weave up the ice and succeeded in getting through the Belmont defense. He counted with a perfect goal just as the whistle for the end of the game was blown. This gave the Arlington boys a victory by a score of 3 to 2. Arlington is now at the top of the league and going strong.

SPORT TIPS

Our own Dartmouth hero, Al

Marsters, did not do so well in the K. of C. games in Mechanics Building, on Saturday evening. He won the second in the first heat of the hurdles, but was blanked in the semi-finals. Many went from Arlington to witness the games, and they were well repaid. There was some exciting moments in all the events, with some of the best known athletes in the country competing for the cups.

Next Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 7, the High school basketball team goes to Lexington for a return game with the High school team of that town. Saturday evening, Feb. 11, the Natick High school team comes here for a game.

SCHUBERT DISCUSSED AT MUSIC APPRECIATION CLASS

With the closing of the basketball season this year the High school loses the best team it has ever had, a remarkable one in many ways. The five boys who make up the team have been playing together since they were in the Boy Scouts team playing with Troop 7. Later they played in Junior High Centre, then came along to the High school without a break in their ranks. That is the way to get good team work.

Schubert's life and work was the subject of the first meeting of the class in music appreciation which was held last week Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. A. Horter on Newman way. The afternoon's program was much enjoyed by the large number who attended.

Mrs. Edwin Allen, who directed the program, gave a clear account of Schubert's short life of thirty-one years, and paid an enthusiastic tribute to his musical genius. She played the themes of the Unfinished Symphony, after which she and Mrs. T. Gordon Smith gave a very finished interpretation of the arrangement for four hands for the piano.

Mrs. Helen E. Barr, soprano, of Winchester, sang five of Schubert's great songs. Her singing of the "Erl King" was very dramatic and impressive, effectively portraying the terror of the boy under the spell of the Erl-King. In "The Wanderer" she conveyed to her hearers the loneliness of one separated from his native land. "My Abode" was sung very beautifully in the original. The wonderful dialogue, "Death and the Maiden," was given with the dramatic effect and pathos intended by the composer, while the well known "Ave Maria" was sung with true religious devotion.

Schubert was chosen as the musician first to be studied, both because it was requested and because he was born on January 31st, near the date on which the program was given.

These meetings will be held on the fourth Thursday of each month, the time to be announced later.

Different groups members of the Arlington Woman's Club are holding bridge parties to raise money for the scholarship fund of the club. It lacks $800 in reaching the sum hoped for by those who are most vitally interested.

My Country Calls

Surprise, trenching on the skirts of wonder, so often expressed by noted visitors to this country from the old world at the growth and development of this comparatively new country, is not greater than that of the not large number of the American people whose memories cover the major part of the years that have witnessed this marvelous growth, are proud of having borne a share, but are apprehensive for the future because of a plain diminishing of the spirit that has so largely been the impelling force in the past. The people we refer to remember well the war with Mexico that added to the United States that great stretch of territory included in the northern boundary of California and the southern line of Texas. Stretching an immense distance in the northern line of the Gulf of Mexico. These people remember the visit of Charles Dickens to the United States and the description of his tour and his impressions of the people, he wrote and published on his return to England. His sharp and at times almost brutal criticisms of the men of that day are now seen to be not really unfair so far as the outside of things are concerned. The criticism is only unfair because Dickens failed to recognize spirit moving men and communities; that while often uncouth outwardly, was inwardly that fine thing which has made the country what it is today. The vital question now is, have we weakened or perchance lost the main spring of the action which governed. Those men and women had taken control of that great stretch of country lying eastward from the Mississippi river and the boundaries of the original thirteen colonies and made it a region of growing cities, of thriving towns, of happy homes, laying the foundation for those great western states that today hold the balance of power reposing in wealth and population. They were building an empire and were careless of ought else.

The supreme test as to the perpetuity of the nation as a whole was yet to be undergone; but the spirit of sacrifice and service that had governed them was transmitted to their children and, when the time came, they were equal to the task devolving on them, who said in action at least, "This is my country. Its welfare (to the extent of my abilities) devolves on me. In the larger and fuller sense I am my brother's keeper. It is my duty to see to it that the things I have inherited be transmitted to those coming after me, not only unimpaired, but bettered because of my handling.

In these days, when so large a proportion of our people have and to spare the means with which to gratify desires, it is not surprising that young people notably are forgetful of the fact that true living consists in accepting responsibilities and faithfully discharging them. What these responsibilities consist of is broadly hinted at in what has already been said.

To our view the spirit animating the generations we have referred to might be expressed in a single sentence, "This is My Country; what are its demands on Me?" That of today largely,—"This is Our Country; let George do it." The difference between these two expressions is more than sharp. It is glaring,—acceptance of responsibility on one hand; ignoring or disregarding it on the other.

As we stated last week in discussing this subject on other lines, it is not, as we view it, the younger generation that needs awakening to a sense of responsibility for the welfare of the nation in the future, but their seniors, who have been so successfully busy in building up the country so markedly that it occupies front rank among the other nations; those people in middle life who vote in elections if they happen to feel like it, or who have a personal interest in some one who is a candidate for office, but not otherwise. To these our appeal is: turn over a new leaf; think of the United States as "My Country," not "ours" merely with no thought of personal responsibility, and by so doing make certain that no damaging elements can enter to make a wreck of that which has been so finely built up, not for ourselves alone, but the world as a whole, adding strength in all its parts so far as personally able, to enhance the value of the inheritance to be handed down to those who shall come after us.

Stick To It

We have heard the story of a cobbler who stood, interested, watching a famous artist put on the finishing touches to his portrait of a man. The artist turned to the cobbler and asked him how he liked the finished picture. After studying it for a while longer, the cobbler called the artist's attention to a mistake that had been made in painting the faces of the man's shoes. Thanking the cobbler, the artist set about making the necessary correction.

Immediately the cobbler puffed up with importance to think that he was able to find a flaw in the work of a great artist, began to criticize the portrait. He was not allowed to go very far, however, for the artist stopped him and reminded him that while he was a good cobbler, he knew nothing concerning the technique of painting a portrait, and advised him to "stick to his last."

This advice might be taken by many people. There are quantities of people who never have made a success of their business, who are, however, always giving advice to others. There is still another group of people who are not satisfied to do the thing for which they are seemingly adapted, but who are eternally wasting their time following a will-o'-the-wisp and then wondering why they are not a success.

Every man to his own trade! It is all very well to keep our eyes and ears open to improve our general knowledge all that we can; but the man who makes good nowadays is the individual who by reason of study and experience has become skilled in one particular line.

The man who knows where his skill lies and sticks to it.

Tom, Dick And Harry
Are Not Capable

"The machinery of our government or of any other form of government known to man today is utterly incapable of handling technical problems which require the highest type of training applied to the highest type of intelligence," says Professor Michael Pupin, scientist and inventor, of Columbia University.

"Railroads, telegraphy and radio broadcasting, electrical lighting and electrical transmission of power are certainly public utilities, but the intelligent people of the United States will never consent that these things, requiring an enormous amount of expert knowledge, be placed under government ownership.

"All these public utilities are full of complex technical problems which cannot and never were intended to be handled by any government. In Europe we see that where there is governmental ownership the utilities are being run at heavy deficits. And only recently Mussolini has said that he wants to get away from government ownership and accept the American system.

"The great achievements of science and industries are living illustrations of what can be accomplished when the problems of science and of the industries are entrusted to the intelligent care of trained hands and superior intelligence.

"This illustration will soon demonstrate, even to a mediocre mind, that it is not true that any man can do any job, as those who control political patronage seem to think. There are many things which Tom, Dick and Harry cannot do; they lack both intelligence and training."

GOOD GOVERNMENT
COMMITTEE BEING FORMED

For the purpose of knowing the candidates who will seek election at the town meeting to be held March 5th, a committee is being formed, that will be non-political and non-partisan. Its object will be to call the different candidates before the committee in order that they may state their qualifications for the office sought. Such information, calculated to assist the voters in selecting the candidates, will be given out by the committee to the general public.

It is desired that anyone who may care to become a member of this Good Government committee, living in any section of the town, communicate with Mr. Arthur Birch, Arlington Heights, who is the originator of the idea, solely in the interest of helping the voters to pick the candidates best fitted to hold office.

sity. In opening his talk he referred to the splendid program which had been given, and raised the question, "What is it all about and what is it for?" and from that went on to build up an argument for applying the educational principals he advocates.

In the two corridors of the hall was an exhibition of the pupils' work in our schools, that would have done credit to the most advanced pupils in trade, industrial and art schools. In the corridor to the right of the stage was displayed the elementary school work. Here also was work done under the supervision of special teachers, Mrs. Marion Ford and Mrs. Mary Curtin. This was weaving and other arts and crafts by the Industrial school pupils, under Mrs. Curtin, which was most interesting and very beautiful in many instances.

On the other side of the corridor was the exhibition by pupils in the Junior High Schools and this was equally splendid. The manual training department showed all kinds of splendidly made articles for the home. Stylish frocks, cleverly fashioned, hats a la mode, and in fact, everything in the line of wearing apparel.

The Domestic Art Department exhibited in the main hall, under the supervision of Miss Harriett Pennell. The exhibit remained open until nine o'clock.

BIOGRAPHIES SUBJECT OF MRS. RUGG'S BOOK TALK

At the meeting of the Current Literature class, which was held Wednesday morning in the Universalist parish house, Mrs. George B. C. Rugg talked on "Biographies." "The Road to Xanadu," she said, has been called by many the most delightful biography of 1927. It is not strictly biography, but a study of the origin of Coleridge's poems. However, the character and the life of Coleridge are conveyed indirectly.

Emil Ludwig's short biographies, "Genius and Character," were considered as well as his "Bismarck." Other books of which Mrs. Rugg spoke, were "Disraeli," by Andre Maurois; "Life and Letters of Joseph Conrad," by Jean-Aubrey, and two volumes that are both biographical and historical—"Captain John Smith," by E. Koble Chatterton, and "John Paul Jones," by Phillips Russell.

Adventurous biographies that appeal to older boys and to men are "Count Lucknow's Sea Journal," by Lowell Thomas, and "The Red Demon," by Rupert Hughes. "George Washington" has been published. "Certain Rich Men" is a volume of short studies by Meade Minnerode.

Among the autobiographies mentioned by Mrs. Rugg, were "An American Saga," by Karl Christian Jansen; "Memoirs of a Poor Relation,"

WHO IS CHAMPION FIDDLER?

Strange as it may seem, when the envelopes were opened containing the decisions of the three judges chosen to decide who was the champion fiddler out of the thirty who contested for the honor Wednesday evening of last week in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, each had picked a different one.

It is understood that an effort will be made to see if it is not possible for at least two of the judges to agree as to who should be awarded the honor of that title. Fiddlers from all over the state entered the contest.

—The Arlington Grange had a grocery whist at their regular meeting, which was held Wednesday evening in G. A. R. Hall. The first prize, a bag of flour, was won by Mrs. Gilles. The party was arranged by the Lecturer, Mrs. Ida Bowman. The Grange is planning to hold a patriotic night on the fifteenth.

"Larry" Wescott, "Bill" Drouet, Paul R. Bennett, "Jack" Kerrigan, Eddie Hoeg, "Bud" Spencer, Clarence Conroy and Charlie Farrow, pulled off their stunts.

Dr. Gutteridge made a stunning looking Spanish senorita.

Miss Alice Devine was the only real female in the cast, and her number was cleverly executed. The cast of characters and the musical numbers in the first half of the program follow:

"THE MAGIC CHARM"

Spartacus Swift, Mgr. World's Greatest Entertainers, "Larry" Wescott Julius Sneezer, His Heavy Man, "Bill" Drouet Alexander, His Property Man, "Paul" Bennett Lizzie White-Washington, His Character Woman, "Jack" Kerrigan Sue Brett, As Is, "Eddie" Hoeg Lord Bobs, Really English, ye know, "Bud" Spencer Lady Betty, His Sweetheart, "Clarence" Conroy Abdullah, Slave of the Wishing Cap, "Charlie" Farrow An American Company of Actors stranded in a foreign land.

Gayotte-Eaton, Hayes, Hollister, Maynard, Peirce, Cay, Stevens, Wyman, Slack, Tinkham, Patterson, Crockett, Brown, Richardson, Gunnerson, Carlson, Spanish Number, "If You're in Love You'll Waltz"—Dr. Gutteridge, Tapley, Simmons, Lindberg, Douglas, Conkey, Lannfeld, Swenson, Sanborn, Wharton, Carlson, Allen, Hackett.

Ballad, "Then You'll Know That You're in Love"—Mr. Hoeg, "Snap Out of the Blues"—Mr. Wescott, Crockett, Simmons, Hackett, Lannfeld, Hayes, Sanborn, Richardson, Cay, Doll Dance, Miss Alice Devine, Pony Ballet, "You Must Come Over Eyes"—Mr. Sanborn, Henderson, Richardson, Hadley, Gutteridge, Conroy, Cameron, Finale, Entire Company.

The stage setting for the second half of the program was splendid. The large chorus occupied tiered seats, and they made a handsome appearance in their different styles of costumes, that gave color and variety. Only the eight end men were black face. They were in bright orange suits with black vests and red neckties, and so fast and furious did they dance at times that at the end of the show the heavyweights, at least, gave evidence of having had a strenuous evening.

William C. Drouet, in a white satin dress suit with black collar and cuffs and top hat, made a stunning looking interloper. The final number in which he and Miss Devine figured was one of the high spots in the show, and quite professional. The end men, all with tambos, were: "Larry" Wescott, Warren G. Lindberg, "Jack" Kerrigan, Paul R. Bennett, Charles L. Burnham, Walter Sorenson, Leroy Richardson and Clarence H. Conroy.

The songs were all well sung, and the choruses finely given. Nearly every number was encored. The songs and singers follow:

Opening Chorus by the Entire Company; End Song, "Lucky in Love," Roy Richardson; End Song, "Virginia," Clarence Conroy; End Song, "Baltimore," Walter Sorenson; End Song, "Everybody Loves My Gal," Warren Lindberg; End Song, "Magnolia," Larry Wescott; Ballad, "House by the Side of the Road," Carl Nelson; End Song, "Chicken," Paul Bennett; End Song, "Is She My Girl Friend?" Jack Kerrigan; Finale, "Kiss Your Minstrel Boy Goodbye," Bill Drouet, introducing Miss Alice Devine.

Owing to the illness of one of the members of the Masonic Male Quartette, this had to be omitted. Mr. "Dick" Wiley filled in with much acceptance with a solo.

Chorus—J. E. Allen, W. R. Awall, F. R. Battis, D. R. Beattie, O. E. Bennett, A. L. Blaser, A. H. Brown, A. E. Burns, Albin Cameron, F. A. Cameron, P. J. Cameron, F. E. Carlson, W. W. Caswell, William Cay, A. G. Christiansen, W. A. Conkey, F. A. Conner, Wilfred Conroy, S. K. Crockett, G. E. Dick, F. S. Douglas, Richard Drouet, Chester Eaton, C. E. Evans, C. E. Farrow, A. E. Gunnerson, J. H. Gutteridge, W. A. Hackett, C. E. Hadley, Walter Hatch, A. B. Harlow, C. N. Hayden, J. P. Hayes, K. L. Henderson, John Hilson, W. N. Hodgkins, G. E. Hoeg, Ralph Hoffman, D. M. Hollister, F. H. Kirchbassner, W. E. Lannfeld, John MacNeil, R. B. Maynard, Walter McFadyen, B. E. Mitchell, F. S. Moulton, C. S. Nelson, V. Parker, C. W. Patriquin, H. J. Patterson, A. O. Peterson, H. W. Peirce, Clarence Richardson, G. E. Richardson, H. E. Ring, J. W. Rourke, Jr., H. C. Sanborn, C. A. Schering, H. L. Sherman, A. M. Simmons, R. M. Simmons, John Slack, W. H. Smith, M. welcomed the audience. Candy was sold by a group of young women during intermission, and before the performance.

The ushers for the two evening performances were:—L. E. A. Smith, Cecil B. Cowdrey, Charles B. Perham, Roger W. Homer, William A. Cann, Arthur B. Harlow and Thomas L. Woodworth.

The show was given under the direction of a committee made up of the following:—Elmer B. Tapley, chairman; Albin Cameron, Clarence H. Conroy, Fred S. Douglas, Wilder H. Hodgkins. "Something over three hundred dollars will probably be the net earnings of the show."

Deaths

MRS. SUSANNAH H. LYON

Mrs. Susannah (Hall) Lyon, widow of John E. Lyon and a direct descendant of Peregrine White of Mayflower fame, died Thursday, Jan. 26, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. Albert Robinson, at 11 Marion road, East Arlington, in her 96th year.

Mrs. Lyon was born in Taunton on Jan. 4, 1833, the daughter of Capt. Joseph A. Hall and Sally (White) Hall, her forebears being among the early settlers of Taunton. On her last birthday she received friends informally at an afternoon tea and enjoyed with them a social afternoon. On October 4, 1855, the deceased became the wife of Mr. Lyon of Newport, R. I., who for years was in the machine business in Salem, and where the couple resided for more than 30 years. Mr. Lyon passed away Nov. 29, 1905. She then went to live with her daughter, Mrs. Robinson, in Hyde Park. The family moved to Arlington seventeen years ago. Mrs. Lyon was one of the oldest members of the Tabernacle (Congregational) church in Salem.

The funeral was held Sunday, Jan. 29th, at 2 o'clock, from the Hartwell Chapel, 792 Massachusetts avenue. The devotional services were conducted by Rev. Charles T. Allen, minister of the Calvary Methodist church. The burial was in Greenlawn cemetery, Salem.

Surviving Mrs. Lyon, besides her daughter, with whom she resided, are Mrs. John A. Carr of Lynn, Mrs. Marshall H. Saville of New York city, two grandsons and four great-grandchildren.

MRS. LYDIA L. BAILEY

Mrs. Lydia L. Bailey, who had been in the hotel business, died Thursday, Jan. 26, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Mitchell, 33 Allen street. Besides the daughter with whom she lived, Mrs. Bailey is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Blanche Forsythe of San Francisco, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Burwell of Stoneham.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon, January 27, at 4 o'clock, from the home. Rev. Charles T. Allen, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Arlington, conducted the services. The body was interred in Oak Grove Cemetery, Springfield, Saturday.

SCHOOL NEWS

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The weekly Assembly was given by members of Miss Riley's class. Those who took part were: Paul Livingstone, Florence Elliot, Eleanor Elliot, Marjorie Robertson and Anna Pyne.

On Friday afternoon at 1.15, a social was held by the English Study Club, with the help of Miss Alice Treat. Mrs. George C. Whipple of Cambridge read modern poetry to the members and their guests, following which refreshments were served.

On Wednesday the Senior class held a meeting for the purpose of electing a class photographer. The election was given to Wald.

The Girl's Club meeting which was scheduled to be held on last week Wednesday afternoon, was postponed until this week, because of the meeting of the League of School papers.

JUNIOR HIGH CENTRE

Centre's winning streak came to an abrupt pause last Friday at Medford, when Lincoln Junior High of that city defeated the Arlington basketball team, 23-4. Arlington was completely at sea on the strange floor, and coupled with the fierce short passing attack of offered by Medford boys, were easily defeated. A return game will be played in Arlington next week. Messina, playing at left forward for Medford, was the star of the game.

The line-up: Centre—Arlington—Lincoln—Medford Barrett, rf. . . . rf. Grasewicz Connor, lf. . . . lf. Messina Gaudman, c. . . . c. Corbett P. Lane, rg. . . . rg. Arcaro C. Lane, lg. . . . lg. Keough Referee—Brown. Timer—Perry. Time—4 8m periods.

N. K. Dhalwani of Bombay, India, gave a very instructive and interesting lecture Friday afternoon, on Hindu people and their religious and social customs. The talk was given under the auspices of the Junior High Centre Athletic Association.

On Monday afternoon, Junior High Centre played Junior High West in hockey at Hill's Pond. It was a closely contested game, resulting in the victory of Junior High West by a score of 1-0.

JUNIOR HIGH WEST

The three teams of Grade IX, VIII, and VII have been practicing in basketball for the last three weeks. This is part of the program to reach as many students as possible by the physical education program.

The hockey team of this school played the Junior High Centre last Monday afternoon at Hill's Pond. The game was close, fast, and furious. The West boys, although inexperienced, were able to annex a victory by the score of 1 to 0, under the expert coaching of Mr. O'Neill. This victory makes the second for the West boys in hockey.

The Junior Beacon, third issue, came out last week in time for the League of School Publications meeting. It contained seven pages, and cost the students five cents each. Two hundred copies were sold. The Junior Beacon is managed entirely by the student staff, and furnishes excellent training for those who work on it.

The meeting of the Leagues of School Publications last week marked a notable advance in the realm of School papers. The region covered by schools was from Duxbury to Mansfield to Needham to Waltham to Gardner to Lynn. At the meeting, the resolution to form and sponsor a State League of School Publications was unanimously adopted. The interest aroused especially among the Junior High School Staffs was shown by the enthusiasm of the students to their principals the next morning. Arlington occupies a pleasing place in their hearts as a result of this meeting.

TWO NEEDLESS FIRE ALARMS SOUNDED

Two alarms were sounded from box 45 on Monday evening. Both were needless, and gave the firemen a long run. A new house is being erected at 34-36 Westminster avenue. The plasterer is using salamanders in drying out the plaster. Someone saw the red reflection from the heater and sent in the alarm. Later someone else saw the reflection and sent in another alarm.

FIRST OF TWO LECTURES ON "ABRAHAM LINCOLN"

At the Unitarian church on Sunday evening, Rev. John Nicol Mark will give the first of two lectures on "Billings' Abraham Lincoln." George A. Billings takes the part of Lincoln and his work is acclaimed as the most life-like and remarkable impersonation of Lincoln ever attempted. There are seventy-five slides in each part.

Part One, which will be given on Sunday, deals with the "Boyhood and Early Manhood of Lincoln." On Lincoln's Birthday, February 12, the lecture will be on "The Manhood and Presidency of Lincoln."

Mr. Mark has secured for music, The Middlesex Brass Quartette. The lectures are at 7 o'clock in the Unitarian church, and are free and open to the general public.

CHIEF TIERNEY PRAISES MEN FOR COOPERATION

In a talk given before the Three Hundred Club last week Wednesday evening in the vestry of Calvary Methodist church, Chief Daniel B. Tierney spoke enthusiastically of the co-operation he had received from the men of the fire department during the time he has been chief. It is through this cooperation, through the willingness of the men to inspect buildings during their time off—the only time that it is possible to do this—that the work in fire prevention, which has so cut down the number of fires, was possible. Chief Tierney, who has been in the department for forty years, traced the growth of the department most interestingly and described the new apparatus, contrasting it with that of early days.

At the close of the talk a buffet lunch was served by a committee headed by Mr. Walter Carle. Mr. F. H. Robinson presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

harmony. Paul Corcoran was another whose work stood out as especially good. He made a handsome lover. The song, "Life is a See Saw," was especially well done. Miss Virginia Hunt deserves special mention for the manner in which she acted her character part. Bradford Swift completely lost his identity as the "Rube" sheriff and his dance, "A Woodland Phantasy," with Miss Hunt certainly got over the foot lights. Herbert McReavy, as the owner of Mile High Sanitarium, did a nice piece of dramatic acting, especially in the second act.

Miss Margaret L. Cassidy as Mile. Fleurette, gave an exhibition of feature dancing that pleased her audience. There were many chorus numbers and specialties, as will be seen by the following program. Harry Rasmussen's orchestra played for the presentation, with Mr. Philbrook at the piano. The full cast follows:

ter of the First Parish Congregational (Unitarian) church, brought the greeting from the Arlington churches as a member of the Ministers' Club, and in his well known inimitable way, extended the good will, fellowship and cooperation of the ministers of the town, whom he said, through a recently organized laymen's council, was endeavoring to broaden and improve their ministry to the people in the town.

The welcome from the First Unitarian Society to its minister was given by Mr. Ernest W. Davis, president. Mr. Davis briefly outlined the past history of the church and feelingly referred to its recent pastor, the late Mr. Patterson, whom he had reason to feel the minister called to serve the society would continue to bring to the church those qualities that had made his predecessor such an inspiration and help to the church and society.

The benediction was by the minister, Rev. Rubens Rea Hadley.

Summoned to attend the weekly meeting of the sewing circle of which she is a member, Miss Mary Hughes of Somerville came to the home of Mrs. J. L. Nuttall, 63 Broadway, Tuesday evening, where she counted gathered a large group of not only members of the sewing circle, but a number of friends. The house was decorated in white and pink and suspended from the ceiling in the living room was a large wedding bell.

In connection with an interesting evening, there was a mock marriage

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HEARS STORY OF FORTY-NINERS

At the meeting of the Arlington Historical Society, which was held Monday evening in the vestry of the Unitarian church, the members heard the story of the "Forty-Niners," who went out from Arlington as it was told in their journals and letters. The routes taken by these pioneers were traced on a large wall map loaned by the Locke School.

"Gold was discovered in California in January, 1848." Details of this discovery were given on a notice of a meeting of the "New England Associated Pioneers of '49," which belonged to the late Mr. William Whittall. It was loaned by his daughter, Mrs. Fred N. Bennett, and was read by Miss E. Caroline Pierre, Miss M. B. Fessenden read selections from the Journal of Mr. Francis Seth Frost, on his voyage from Boston to California by the way of Cape Horn, loaned by his daughter Mrs. H. A. Phinney.

The Panama Route was described in a paper written by Mrs. Blanche Cutter Hatch, of Oswego, Illinois, the daughter of Mr. Henry Cutter, and read by Mrs. Annie Cutter Easter. This told the story of Messrs. Henry and James Cutter, and their brother-in-law, Mr. Porter, the husband of Mrs. Hannah Cutter Hall Porter. Miss Pierce read items from a Panama newspaper, "The Panama Star," of March 20, 1848, which is now owned by the Historical Society and a menu card from the El Dorado Hotel, California, whose last statement reads, "A square meal, $3.00, paid in advance." This was loaned by Mrs. Addie Flanders Ahearn.

Miss Edith Winn read the account of the journey of Mr. Josiah Locke Frost to California, which was loaned by Mr. J. Fred Frost. An account of the journey of Mr. Thomas Emerson Russell, written by his son, Mr. E. Emerson Russell of Chicago, was read by Mr. Otis Russell. Mr. Frank A. Woodhead read "A Gold Fever Tale by a Forty-Niner," a newspaper interview of Mr. William Whittall from a newspaper dated 1910, loaned by his daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Bennett. The program closed with the reading by Mrs. Fessenden of letters written by Mr. George H. Fessenden on the way around Cape Horn and in the gold "diggins," loaned by his daughter, Mrs. Fannie Fessenden Elmes.

ANOTHER FALSE ALARM BRINGS LEXINGTON DEPT.

Another case of someone looking into a new house and seeing a reflection that looked like a fire, caused an alarm to be rung in from box 73 Tuesday evening. A salamander in a house at 1511 Mass. avenue gave forth a bright glow and it was thought that there was a fire. The Lexington department responds to this alarm. There was quite an array of fire fighting apparatus that appeared on the scene and which was not needed.

THE ROTARY CLUB

Charles Stevens, secretary of the Arlington Rotary Club, announces that the show, "The Four Flushes," to be presented in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, Feb. 17th, is coming along well. William O. Partridge is the coach. The sudden death of the father of Miss Elizabeth Hoxie, one of the leading ladies of the cast, has made it necessary to make a change in the same.

The president of the club, Frank Woodhead, was absent last week, in New York City. William V. Talntor and Edward C. Hildreth, the vice-presidents, are in the south.

CHARLES H. HOXIE

Charles H. Hoxie of 7 Pelham terrace, passed away suddenly on the morning of January 29th at the Charlesgate Hospital, after an operation performed January 18th. He was born in Mystic, Conn., September 15, 1872, the son of Mary Van Ryper Hoxie and the late John H. Hoxie, and was one of four children. On November 21st, 1899 he married Franc Marguerite Foote of Mystic. Both are members of old and well known families of that place. About twenty-two years ago the couple, with their two children, Elizabeth Foote and Frances Van Ryper, moved to Arlington. Mr. Hoxie's kindly nature and love for home and his family, made him a man to be respected, and because of these sterling qualities, he leaves an enviable heritage to his wife and daughters, so suddenly bereft of a wise counselor.

Mr. Hoxie had been in the insurance business in Boston for many years and at the time of his death was special agent for the Glens Falls Insurance Company of New York, with offices at 55 Kilby street. Earlier in his career he served the Dutchess and Security Insurance companies. In 1906 he became a member of the New England Insurance Exchange.

An evidence that he had lived well was expressed in the unusual display of flowers at the funeral, held Tuesday at 2.30 in the St. John's Episcopal church, where he was a senior warden. There was a large gathering of friends and business associates who took part in the service, conducted by Rev. Charles Taber Hall, rector of the church. The bearers were William A. Muller, Hubert Brown, William Marsden, Edward A. Darling, William D. Elwell, A. Oswald Yeames. The body was carried to Mystic that evening, and funeral services were held Wednesday in the Congregational church, conducted by Rev. James R. Danforth, a long time friend of the family. The interment was in the family lot in Elm Grove Cemetery.

MARY JANE STODDART

Mrs. Mary Jane Stoddart, wife of Mr. Charles H. Stoddart, who is in charge of the western business of the Munsey Company, passed away in Chicago, Ill., January 31st. She was born in what was then called West Cambridge, now Arlington; August 7th, 1842, the daughter of the late Charles and Hannah S. Hill, of Arlington, who for years lived on Pleasant street in the house now at the corner of that street and Gray street.

Mrs. Stoddart, when a young woman, conducted a private school in a small building in the rear of the old Parson Cook's house, which stood about where Academy street now is located. Her only survivor, besides her husband, is a brother, Mr. Edward C. Hill, of 158 Pleasant street, Arlington. The funeral was held today (Friday) in Chicago.

CHARLES A. MURRAY

Funeral services for Charles A. Murray were held Monday afternoon from his late home, 81 Westminster avenue, with the Rev. Judson Hankins, pastor of the Heights Methodist church, assisted by Mr. Leslie, officiating. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mr. Murray was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, fifty-eight years ago last September, but had lived for the past seventeen years in Arlington. By trade he was a carpenter. He was a member of the Masons and of the Knights of Pythias in Scotland, and the Caledonians here.

Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters, Mary Edna Murray Cheney and Evelyn Murray, and by a son, Robert Reed Murray.

Weddings

FANTASIA—MANDERINO

In the presence of a large number of relatives and friends Tuesday morning in St. Agnes Church, Miss Olympia Helena Manderino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Manderino of 66 Mystic street, became the bride of Ralph Fantasia of Medford. The wedding was a very pretty one. The pastor, Rev. Mathew J. Flaherty, celebrated the mass and performed the wedding ceremony, the bride being given in marriage by her father. Potted plants were about the foot of the altar, while the altar was decorated with cut flowers. The wedding marches were played by Miss Mary McFarland of this town.

Miss Elizabeth Manderino, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Eva Manderino, Miss Stella LoPresti and Miss Katherine Caterino were the flower girls, and Vincent Pallitte of Somerville was best man.

The bride wore a dress of white crepe satin, trimmed with point lace. Her long veil was arranged on the head in cape shape, held in place with a crown of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of roses and valley lilies. The maid of honor wore rose colored taffeta, with silver trimmings and silver hat. The flower girls were in deep colored rose taffeta with hats to match. Each carried a basket of flowers.

Ushers were Edward Caterino, cousin of the bride, and Louis Fantasia, brother of the groom, Charles Crocco and John Kelley of this town. The reception was held in G. A. R. Hall on Massachusetts avenue, in the evening, when upward of 500 were invited to attend.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HEARS STORY OF FORTY-NINERS

At the meeting of the Arlington Historical Society, which was held Monday evening in the vestry of the Unitarian church, the members heard the story of the "Forty-Niners," who went out from Arlington as it was told in their journals and letters. The routes taken by these pioneers were traced on a large wall map loaned by the Locke School.

"Gold was discovered in California in January, 1848." Details of this discovery were given on a notice of a meeting of the "New England Associated Pioneers of '49," which belonged to the late Mr. William Whittall. It was loaned by his daughter, Mrs. Fred N. Bennett, and was read by Miss E. Caroline Pierre, Miss M. B. Fessenden read selections from the Journal of Mr. Francis Seth Frost, on his voyage from Boston to California by the way of Cape Horn, loaned by his daughter Mrs. H. A. Phinney.

The Panama Route was described in a paper written by Mrs. Blanche Cutter Hatch, of Oswego, Illinois, the daughter of Mr. Henry Cutter, and read by Mrs. Annie Cutter Easter. This told the story of Messrs. Henry and James Cutter, and their brother-in-law, Mr. Porter, the husband of Mrs. Hannah Cutter Hall Porter. Miss Pierce read items from a Panama newspaper, "The Panama Star," of March 20, 1848, which is now owned by the Historical Society and a menu card from the El Dorado Hotel, California, whose last statement reads, "A square meal, $3.00, paid in advance." This was loaned by Mrs. Addie Flanders Ahearn.

Miss Edith Winn read the account of the journey of Mr. Josiah Locke Frost to California, which was loaned by Mr. J. Fred Frost. An account of the journey of Mr. Thomas Emerson Russell, written by his son, Mr. E. Emerson Russell of Chicago, was read by Mr. Otis Russell. Mr. Frank A. Woodhead read "A Gold Fever Tale by a Forty-Niner," a newspaper interview of Mr. William Whittall from a newspaper dated 1910, loaned by his daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Bennett. The program closed with the reading by Mrs. Fessenden of letters written by Mr. George H. Fessenden on the way around Cape Horn and in the gold "diggins," loaned by his daughter, Mrs. Fannie Fessenden Elmes.

Another case of someone looking into a new house and seeing a reflection that looked like a fire, caused an alarm to be rung in from box 73 Tuesday evening. A salamander in a house at 1511 Mass. avenue gave forth a bright glow and it was thought that there was a fire. The Lexington department responds to this alarm. There was quite an array of fire fighting apparatus that appeared on the scene and which was not needed.

THE ROTARY CLUB

Charles Stevens, secretary of the Arlington Rotary Club, announces that the show, "The Four Flushes," to be presented in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, Feb. 17th, is coming along well. William O. Partridge is the coach. The sudden death of the father of Miss Elizabeth Hoxie, one of the leading ladies of the cast, has made it necessary to make a change in the same.

The president of the club, Frank Woodhead, was absent last week, in New York City. William V. Talntor and Edward C. Hildreth, the vice-presidents, are in the south.

CHARLES H. HOXIE

Charles H. Hoxie of 7 Pelham terrace, passed away suddenly on the morning of January 29th at the Charlesgate Hospital, after an operation performed January 18th. He was born in Mystic, Conn., September 15, 1872, the son of Mary Van Ryper Hoxie and the late John H. Hoxie, and was one of four children. On November 21st, 1899 he married Franc Marguerite Foote of Mystic. Both are members of old and well known families of that place. About twenty-two years ago the couple, with their two children, Elizabeth Foote and Frances Van Ryper, moved to Arlington. Mr. Hoxie's kindly nature and love for home and his family, made him a man to be respected, and because of these sterling qualities, he leaves an enviable heritage to his wife and daughters, so suddenly bereft of a wise counselor.

Mr. Hoxie had been in the insurance business in Boston for many years and at the time of his death was special agent for the Glens Falls Insurance Company of New York, with offices at 55 Kilby street. Earlier in his career he served the Dutchess and Security Insurance companies. In 1906 he became a member of the New England Insurance Exchange.

Captain Knowles Passes Eighty-sixth Birthday

Capt. Alfred H. Knowles of 10 Wyman street, for the last four years commander of the Massachusetts Department of the Loyal Legion, Saturday quietly observed the 86th anniversary of his birth. He was remembered by many missives of a congratulatory nature.

Capt. Knowles, still in fine health, continues his business activities and each day is at his desk in his business establishment on Mystic street. He was born in Orleans and served nearly three years with the 24th Massachusetts Regiment in the Civil War. He was promoted to captain of the 54th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. In the spring of 1864 he rejoined the Army of the Potomac, after recovering from wounds received in action, and was given a place on the staff of Gen. Park, commanding the 9th Corps.

Capt. Knowles was commander of the Massachusetts State Department of the G. A. R., in 1914. He has been adjutant of the Middlesex County G. A. R. Association for some time. He is a past commander of and now holds several offices in the Francis Gould Post, G. A. R., in Arlington.

LEXINGTON GIVES SILVER SERVICE TO NAMESAKE

Saturday added one more to the long list of historic days in the life of Arlington's neighbor, Lexington. On that day the sterling silver tea service, the gift of the town, was formally presented to the U. S. S. aircraft carrier Lexington, Capt. A. W. Marshall.

Hundreds of Lexington citizens went in for the ceremony, among them many children. The presentation was made by Robert H. Holt, town moderator. Following Captain Marshall's acceptance, tea was served from the new service, with Mrs. Beulah Locke Sherburne and Miss Edith D. Hill pouring. Chairman Theodore A. Cushman of the Board of Selectmen, was present, as were also Selectmen William H. Ballard, Francis Chamberlain, Albert H. Burnham and James G. Robertson.

The members of the Committee on the Memorial were Mr. Willard C. Hill, Mrs. Warren Sherburne, Mr. Galen A. Russell, Mr. Roger S. Clapp and Dr. John H. Kane.

WELFARE COUNCIL HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Arlington Welfare Council held its annual meeting last Friday morning, the twenty-seventh. Mrs. Roscoe Perry, who has served the organization so long and so efficiently, was re-elected president. Mrs. Elliott Barker was chosen vice-president. Miss Marion Mead, secretary, and Miss Josephine Whitaker, treasurer.

The reports of the officers showed that the work of the Council for the past month has been by far the heaviest in its history. Most of this has been relief for families suffering from unemployment. In fact, because of the large number of men out of work, the Council has been busier this winter than ever before and has received more calls for assistance.

The review of the year revealed an extension of the duties of the council and an increase in the demands made upon it, similar to the growth recorded every year since its organization.

BOOKS ADDED TO THE ROBBINS LIBRARY

Mann, Thomas. The Magic Mountain, in 2 volumes, translated from the German by H. T. Lowe-Porter. The Boston Transcript refers to this novel as one of the greatest and most moving books of our time—a novel from which each must draw whatever he is able and he who draws nothing is impossible. It gives a detailed study of life in the International Sanatorium of Berghof—the routine, the treatment, the peculiarities of a group of patients, and especially the extraordinary spiritual, mental, and physical adventures of Hans Castorp.

Undset, Sigrid. Kristin Lavransdatter, the great Norwegian trilogy translated by Charles Archer. Vol. 1. The Bridal Wreath. Vol. 2. The Mistress of Husaby. Vol. 3. The Cross. Readers of Selma Lagerlof and Knut Hamsun will welcome the American edition of this trilogy by Sigrid Undset. Her romanticism with its unobtrusive mystical strain, her emotional power, her living background, and above all her tolerant humanism make a profound and lasting appeal. Against the setting of medieval Norway the story of Kristin Lavransdatter is told, making from her experiences as a girl, wife, and mother an epic of woman's life.

Claire, Mabel. Short Cut Cookery. "The purpose of this book is to show the housewife who needs more leisure, how to get that leisure without neglecting the most important part of home-making—cooking."

Comstock, Sarah. Roads to the Revolution. As a fellow traveler this book accompanies the reader to those localities most vividly associated with the Revolutionary War and points out the landmarks to be seen today. Boston, New York, and Philadelphia are the three centers from which the journeys are made.

Dodd, Lee Wilson. The Golden Complex. Essays in defense of the inferiority complex.

Jenkins, John Wilber. James B. Duke—Master Builder. The story of tobacco, the development of Southern and Canadian water-power, and the creation of a University find a place in the life story of James B. Duke.

McBride, Robert Medill. Towns and People of Modern Germany. Another delightful book of travel by this author, greatly enhanced by the numerous illustrations of E. C. Caswell.

Osborn, Henry Fairfield. Man Rises to Parnassus. In this sequel to Men of the Old Stone Age, Prof. Osborn continues his fascinating study of fossil man, stressing the development of the mind and spirit of man.

Slosson, Preston W. Twentieth Century Europe.

Children's Story Hour

Saturday morning an enthusiastic group of children gathered in the Children's room of the Robbins Library and listened to stories from "Robin Hood" and "Anderson's Fairy Tales" told by Miss Helen Thompson, Children's Librarian. Admission was by ticket and confined to fifth and sixth grade children.

It is intended to entertain digested groups each Saturday as the lack of accommodations in the Children's room make large gatherings impossible.

FALLING TROLLEY WIRE JUST MISSES OFFICER

Reserve Officer James Donovan had a close call from a serious accident on last Friday evening, while at his station at the Center railroad crossing, when a trolley wire fell hitting the street not quite 15 feet away from the traffic officer. The accident drew a crowd and there was some danger from the fallen live wire, but Frank LeBaron of the wire department hurried to the scene and secured the live wire to a pole until the arrival of the emergency crew of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. Traffic was tied up for some time.

Weddings

DEIGNAN—SKAHAN

A wedding of interest to a large number of Arlington residents was that of Miss Sarah Madeline Skahan, daughter of Mrs. Edward F. Skahan of 91 Grove street, Belmont (nee Nellie Purcell, formerly of Arlington) to Joseph Francis Deignan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick C. Deignan of Watertown, in Sacred Heart Church, Belmont, on last Saturday morning. The nuptial mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Edmund T. Shannahan, S. T. D., who also performed the ceremony.

The church, which was filled, was profusely decorated with calla lilies and greens. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Edward Francis Skahan. She wore a gown of white wedding ring velvet and old family lace, with a headpiece of rose point and orange blossoms supporting a veil of Venetian lace. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies.

Miss Ruth K. Skahan, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her other attendants were Miss Ann T. Deignan, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Marion Lyons of Arlington, a cousin of the bride, and the Misses Mary G. and Alice E. Skahan, her sisters. The maid of honor was gowned in water weed chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses. The other attendants wore beaded chiffon and carried shower bouquets of roses.

Francis J. McCabe of Providence, was best man. The ushers included Joseph B. Ford, Jr., of Cambridge; Clifford M. Collins of Boston; John J. Hickey of Watertown; Joseph V. Carroll of Belmont; William F. Riley of Watertown and William R. Maliff of Brookline.

A reception was held at the Skahan residence in Belmont immediately after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Deignan will make their home in Belmont after a trip to Cuba and Florida.

Mrs. Deignan is a graduate of Trinity College, Washington, D. C., class of 1923. Mr. Deignan is associated with a large Boston lumber concern.

CLOYD—LAW

At a pretty home wedding Sunday afternoon, January 29th, Miss Helen Vivian Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Law, of 14 Wyman street, and Arthur R. Cloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cloyd of Amesbury, were married. The ceremony was performed in the home by Rev. Charles Taber Hall, rector of St. John's Episcopal church of this town, at 3 o'clock, the double ring ceremony being used. Miss Beatrice A. Law, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while the best man was Frank Cloyd, brother of the groom. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a dress of white satin. Her long veil of tulle was caught in place with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies. The maid of honor wore peach colored georgette, and carried an arm bouquet of tea roses.

A reception followed immediately after the wedding, attended by relatives and friends. Refreshments were served in the dining room. The couple left on a honeymoon trip and on their return they will reside for the present at 14 Wyman street.

Menotomy Chapter, D. A. R., will hold its regular meeting on Friday afternoon, Feb. 10, at the home of Mrs. Elliott R. Barker, 26 Lombard road. There will be a Lincoln program entitled the "March of the Pioneer," which will be in charge of Mrs. John U. Riley.
